

Cleaning of equipment

Wash synthetic rope and body harnesses in soapy water to remove dirt, rinse them with clean water. Air-dry at room temperature. Don't use cleaning solvents, solvents can damage synthetic material.

Don't lubricate moving parts unless the manufacturer requires it, lubricants attract dirt.

Don't remove information labels and warnings; make sure they are still legible after cleaning.

Store equipment in an area that is clean, dry, and moisture-free; avoid excessive heat, light, oils, and corrosive chemicals.