

MSA Advanced Combat Helmets NOT Subject of U.S. Army Recall

On May 17 various media outlets began reporting news that the U.S. Army was recalling 44,000 Advanced Combat Helmets (ACHs) amid concerns they may offer soldiers substandard ballistic protection.

As one of three current manufacturers of ACHs, MSA has received several inquiries into this situation. The purpose of this communication is to clarify that all MSA-produced Advanced Combat Helmets are not subject to the U.S. Army recall. All MSA-produced ACHs meet DOD performance specifications.

May 21, 2010